

Schools for the Himalaya

The Australian Himalayan Foundation's (AHF's) Schools for the Himalaya project provides an opportunity of cultural exchange and fosters strong and lasting relationships between schools in Australia and those in the Himalaya. Schools in Australia are encouraged to raise funds to help improve basic facilities and educational resources.

There are also opportunities for Aussie schools to visit these schools and gain firsthand experience of the effectiveness of our educational programs in Bhutan and Nepal.

How can your school get involved?

The AHF values the participation of all schools in this project and invites your school to contact us to discuss how your school community can become involved in this innovative program. We will work with you and your school to design a program that reflects the level of involvement that suits you.

Program Benefits

- Forging of cross-cultural relationships and global perspectives
- Raising funds for relevant AHF country programs
- Forging new friendships
- An appreciation of cultural diversity
- Knowledge and resource sharing between schools.

Australian Himalayan Foundation

The AHF is a registered Australian NGO working in partnership with the people of the Himalaya to help the most disadvantaged meet their priority needs through integrated improvements in education, health and the environment.
